Emblema Auereti

(a) The initial letter of Burials, 1558, drawn by William Averell, Parish Clerk

The "Tun" is an allusion to his being a member of the Vintners Company, the Rose is an emblem of his prosperity in his business and in his family. The verse at the side from Ps 104 should probably be the 15th in our version that text and the following referring to Wine, the last to the Rose. Other initial letters in this Register by the same hand are C. for Christenings 1538, an interlaced letter formed of two snakes with a grotesque head in the centre; an initial D. 1538, an interlaced letter on red ground finishing in two snakes with their tongues out, barbed; an initial S. 1538, an interlaced letter on red ground with flowers; an initial H. 1558; and an initial W. 1558 the outside stems interlaced, the inside twisted, with a large Rose in the centre.

CERTAIN VERSES VPON THIS REGISTER.

Si speculum fluxæ quæris vitæq' caducæ:
Nobile tumq'; nitens hic liber esse potest.
Hic vitæ vera effigies hîc mortis imago:
Hic iam spirantes mors fera sæpe rapit.
Aluo in materna morientem cernere possis
Infantem tenerum, cum sibi fata volunt.
Hîc iuvenis moritur, sic splendida comptaq'; virgo
Jam sponsata vîro, non sibi nupta dolet.
Hîc dives rapitur congestis vndiq'; saccis:
Fertur ad infernas, Tartareasq'; domos.
Hîc qui pauperiem patitur ditatur abunde.
Nam fruitur cœlis, possidet atq' deum.
Huc grandesq' senes veniunt iam tempore fessi
In folijsq' meis, nomina scripta volunt
Humani generis sors quæ sit sicq' videbis;
Nomina voluendo quæ tibi forte dabo.

VERSES MADE BY WILLIAM AUERELL CLARKE OF THIS CHURCH, IN WHICH HEE COMPARETH THIS REGISTER TO A GLASSE OR MIRROUR.

Loe heare a christall mirror,
And glas of mannes vaine glorie:
Whose vew may bee a terror,
Gainst pleasures transitorie:
Wheare in each humane creature
May see the course of nature.

See heare the childe now panting,
In wombe of wofull mother:
When life and death is wanting,
How th'on's a grave to th'other:
The wombe that's made to beare it,
Beecomes a tombe t'interre it.

The sucking babe that hangeth,
Vpon the teat so tender:
When fearefull death it pangeth,
Dies like a slip that's slender:
Now born and new baptized,
Now dead and sone disguised.

The youth that's strong and lustie,
Whose face is full of fauor:
May heare see youth vntrustie,
And like a flower in sauor:
Now fresh and sweet new gathred,
Straight stinking, dead, and withred.

The flouring maid beespangled,
With red like damaske roses:
Must leave to bee newfangled,
And shunne mens flattering glozes.
For heare shee sees her bewtie,
Deathes tribute, debt, and dutie.

The virgin newlie married,
With pompe and wondrous pleasure:
The next day heare is buried
With sorrow passing measure:
Shee meltes and mournes in dying,
Her spouse and frendes with crying.

The riche man that hath scraped,
To fill his bagges with treasure:
Shall see heare none haue scaped,
But death hath had his seazure:
Heare is his name inrouled,
That would not be controuled.

The poore with famine pined,
Once beeing heare recorded
Hath treasures trew assigned,
And heauenlie foode afforded:
In heauen hee's now adorned,
That heare one earth was scorned.

The feeble old man wasted,
With yeares, cares, greef and trouble:
Is glad that death hath hasted,
His death for to redouble:
Though long he liu'd and crooked,
Yet heare hee must be booked.

Thus euery age and calling,
May heare beehold theyr faces:
Theyr rising and theyr falling,
Theyr endes and wretched cases:
Which glasse weare it well vsed,
Life should not bee abused.

PREFACE.

In issuing this, the first I hope of a long series of Parochial Registers that will be printed by the Harleian Society, a few words are perhaps necessary by way of Preface. The magnitude of such a scheme as the publication of the Parish Registers of England has led many to look with little favour upon the proposal of the Society, and the impossibility of ever completing it is urged as a reason against the attempt. Each Parish Register is, however, a separate work of itself, and even if no more than twenty or thirty were printed a great work would have been achieved, and a vast amount of useful genealogical information secured. I trust, therefore, that the Society will adhere to its resolution, and keep steadily to the object it has in view, viz., that one part of its work shall be the publication of Parish Registers. Our object is to obtain as large a mass of genealogical information as possible in the shortest possible time, and for this reason I trust that any lengthened Annotations, Transcripts of Wills, or of Monumental Inscriptions, will be avoided, and only such notes be given as may be absolutely necessary. A difficult question arises at the outset, and it is one which must be dealt with at once, otherwise I fear that both the interest of our Volumes, and the number that we shall be able to print, will be seriously diminished. It is this—shall we, or shall we not, publish every Register in its entirety? I have no hesitation in saying that to do so will be a very great mistake, and I think that the publication of this Register will go far to support this assertion. We shall encumber our Volumes with a large mass of useless and uninteresting matter, and spend money, both in printing and copying, which might be much better employed; the province of an Editor will be thereby reduced to that of a mere correcting of the letter-press, and much fewer Registers will be published than otherwise might be. To say nothing of the entries of "vagrants," "rogues," persons "ignoti cognominis," and such like, which will fill our pages, I maintain that as a Genealogical Society we are not concerned to find ancestors for families which have risen to the ranks of gentry in later times; our business is only with the record of those who at the time the entry was made were persons of recognized social position. I am aware that to prepare complete and trustworthy abstracts of Parish Registers will require Editors of considerable experience and of local knowledge, and that even then some important entry may occasionally be omitted; but surely this will be a lesser evil than the publication of so many names which have no interest or value whatever. The Registers of large towns will perhaps afford more difficulty, but in most of the country Registers with which I am familiar, there is some distinguishing mark of the gentry, and where such may be wanting the local knowledge of the Editor will enable him to judge what extracts to make. If any class of entries is to be printed in full it should certainly be confined to the marriages, which are less numerous and relatively of more importance.

The Church of St. Peter, Cornhill, is traditionally said to have been the earliest Christian Church in London; its foundation is ascribed to Lucius, the first Christian King of Britain, A.D. 124. The Rev. W. J. Loftie, in a paper on Roman London, in the "Archæological Journal" (vol. xxxiv., p. 177), says: "St. Peter's upon Cornhill is traditionally said to have been the seat of Bishop Restitutus (he was at the Council of Arles, A.D. 314), and the fifteen predecessors and successors assigned to him by the mediæval historians." Whether, as Stow suggests, St. Peter's, at Westminster, is intended or not, this Church is of great antiquity. The original building was destroyed in the Fire of London, and the present Church was rebuilt on its site by Sir Christopher Wren; it had formerly, as now, a library attached to it.

The Registers consist of eight volumes:—

1.	Christenings and Burials -	1536 to 1774.
	Weddings - -	1536 to 1754.

Part of this volume is a copy made from an earlier book not now in existence.

2.	Christenings and Burials -	1775 to 1812.
3.	Weddings - -	1754 to 1780.
4.	Weddings - -	1781 to 1812.
5.	Weddings - -	1813 to 1837.
6.	Weddings - -	1837 to present time.
7.	Christenings - -	1813 to present time.
8.	Burials - - -	1813 to 1853; the last year of burial at St. Peter's.

The transcript from the early Register, and the entries up to the year 1605, are made by William Averell, the Parish Clerk. He was probably the son of John Averell, Joyner, and Margaret his wife, the baptisms of several of whose children occur in the Register (p. 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8), and whose burials are recorded at page 120 and 126. He was baptized on 12 Feb. 1555 (p. 7), and was married on 2 Nov., 1578, to Gillian, daughter of Robert Goodale, "felix atque faustum conjugium," as he styles it (p. 231). By her he had seventeen or eighteen children,* the baptisms of sixteen of them being recorded in this Register; she was buried on 20 Feb., 1595 (p. 145), and he on 23 Sep., 1605. He was a member of the Merchant Taylors' and Vintners' Company; he was both a Greek and Latin scholar, as appears by the numerous entries in those languages in the margin of the Register. His house was in Corbet's Court, and he had a school for pupils, which he probably held in the library attached to the Church. Stow mentions that in his time the place was occupied by a schoolmaster and his usher, for a number of scholars learning their grammar rules. The deaths of some of his scholars are recorded at pages 144, 156, and 158. He was a good draughtsman and penman, as may be seen by the Register, which is a beautiful specimen of writing; the initial letters, one of which is given in the frontispiece, are by his hand, and are of considerable merit. A search in the P.C.C. has not resulted in finding his will.

* See pp. 45 and 145.

The present volume brings the Register down to 1666, the year of the great fire; it is proposed to continue it in a second volume down to 1750. The present part contains singularly few entries of persons of rank. One nobleman only, George, Earl of Desmond, whose marriage is recorded (p. 253), one peer's son, William Fairfax, son of Lord Fairfax of Emley (ibid). Two ladies of rank appear as Godmothers (p. 55); the Lady Lucy, Countess of Bedford, and the Lady Elizabeth Darlton, "bewtifull Ladies," as the clerk of the day calls them. Of civic dignitaries we find Sir William Bowyer, Lord Mayor of London 1543, whose burial is recorded on 13 April, 1545, to whom there was formerly a tomb in the south aisle of the choir, the inscription on which is given by Stow ("Survey of London," p. 211). Sir Henry Hubblethorn, Lord Mayor 1546, married in this church to Elizabeth Fuller 26 April, 1552, and buried there 18 Oct. 1556, to whom there was a marble stone under the communion table, mentioned by Stow (p. 212). Mr. William Walthall, Alderman and Sheriff of London 1606, buried 2 Sep. 1608; he left various benefactions to the parish, as recorded by Stow (p. 212). Mr. Thomas Westraw, Alderman and Sheriff 1625, buried in a vault in the chancel 18 December, 1625 (Stow's "Survey," p. 867). Sir Christopher Morris married to Eliza Clifford 18 June, 1543, and buried 3 Feb., 1545; Master Gunner to King Hen. VIII. (Stow, p. 211).

Of Rectors of the parish we have William Ashbold, D.D., Rector in 1560, buried 29 Aug. 1622. Dr. White, Rector in 1622 (see p. 180). William Fairfax, D.D., his successor, buried 20 Nov. 1655. Mr. William Blackmore, Rector in 1648, whose marriage on 1st May, 1660, is recorded at page 262.

A large number of Dutchmen seemed to have lived in the parish; there are numerous entries of them, and constant mention of the Dutch Church (pp. 17, 19, 21, 23, 31, 43). John Vansalt, an Elder of the Dutch Church, was buried 9 Jan., 1603. James Voulmur, a Dutch Preacher, buried 6 Jan., 1617. This was in Austin Friars, and was part of the old Church of the Friars, and granted to the Dutch in 1550. Some of them were baptized in the French Church (pp. 24, 26, 27); this was part of the old Church of St. Anthony's Hospital, in Threadneedle Street.

Visitations of the Plague are recorded in 1593, 1603, and 1665. The burials of four centenarians, all women, occur, viz., Annes Tibbold, 6 April, 1575; Margery Mane, 14 March, 1596; Annes Lee, 18 Sep., 1597, and Jane Read, 21 Feb., 1632. There are entries of a vast number of foundlings (I have enumerated some forty) who, according to a common custom, were all surnamed Peter, after the Saint to whom the Parish Church was dedicated; one of them bears the name Symon Peter (p. 88).

Of uncommon Christian names we find of Males: Sidrach (p. 12), Gamaliel (p. 19), Bezaleel) (p. 34), Abacucke (p. 36), Hillary (p. 44), Aholiab (p. 47), Nicasius (p. 103), Zephaine (p. 246), Humiliation (p. 253); of Females: Cananell? (p. 9), Ephin (p. 11), Effam (p. 68), Gillian (p. 30), Izan* (pp. 1, 43), Juventa (p. 58), Apoline (p. 59), Appelyna (p. 173), Avice (p. 72), Jacamine (p. 132), Jockaminshaw (p. 169), Nazareth (p. 246), Venus (p. 253).

Among benefactors to the parish we find John Caunt, Fishmonger, buried 22 Oct., 1592; Launcelot Thomson, Draper, buried 14 Jan., 1601; Peter Heelin, buried 21 Feb., 1601; Mr. John Malyn, buried 26 May, 1612.

William Dethick, York Herald, was an inhabitant of the parish; baptisms of his children occur at pages 22, 24, 25, 27, 29.

* This name occurs on a monument to Izan Wright, in Allhallows, Lombard Street (Stow's "Survey," p. 220).

The letter "u" being written in the original for "v," has been retained throughout.

The removal of the font from the reading place by the quire is mentioned on 20 Feb. 1604, and on 20 March following John King is entered as "y^{e} first christned in the gilded font."

The description at p. 190 of Mrs. Lucy Edge, as "one of the Widdowes which gives the Lecture at litle Alhallowes," I cannot explain.

The Weigh House is frequently mentioned, with its officers, master porter, porter, carter, etc. (pp. 18, 30, 60, 68, 153, 173, 175). Stow says, that on the north side of Lombard Street "one large house is called the wey-house where Merchandizes brought from beyond the Seas are to be weighed at the Kings beame. Sir Thomas Lovell builded this house which hee gave to the Grocers of London."

It remains to express the thanks of the Society to the Rev. Richard Whittington, M.A., the Rector of St. Peter's, for his kindness in allowing us to transcribe the Register; with him, should our undertaking prove successful, will rest the credit of having been the first to speed us on our way. From others of the clergy we have met with similar encouragement, as the list of our intended publications shews. It is to them in this, as in other antiquarian researches, that we must look for our chief assistance. I am aware that to some of them the prospect of printing Parish Registers appears as if it would seriously diminish the income derived from searchers, and, however willing they may be to forego any advantage to themselves, they feel that they must have regard to their successors. I believe that this is not really a matter of much import to them. In the first place, the searches made in the early years of the Register, say to 1750, with which our Society will be chiefly concerned, are not very numerous, and, in the second place, the fact of these entries being printed will not give them any legal value as evidence; to be of any worth in a Court of law, they will require, as heretofore, a stamp and the certificate of the Rector or other person making the extract. These facts will I trust weigh with the clergy, and induce them to further our undertaking.

The transcript of the Register has been most carefully and accurately made by Mr. J. Eedes. Some errors there must of necessity be, but I trust that they are neither many nor serious.

Heare end theyre birthes by her sweet death:
Vnder whose raigne they tooke theyr breath.
A peereles prince a Virgin Queen:
Whose like one earth was neuer seen.
England put one sad sable black:
With brynish teares lament her lack
And mourn for her that now hath been
Fourtie fiue yeares thy nurse and Queen.
Whose golden vertues to recite
No tongue can tell, no penne can write.
Elizabeth thy glorious name:
Shall liue while earth doth keep her frame.
And when the earth shall melt and wast:
In heaven thy fame shall liue and last.
Queen Elsabeth is gone and dead.
King James now raigneth in her stead.
Her vertues sounded weare by fame,
The world ringes of his princelie name.
A Queen and King so to succeed,
I neuer heard nor none did reed.

Quoth William Averell.

Spes mea Christus erit sine quo spes nulla salutis.
